

PESTHOUSE WILL BE IMPROVED BY THE COMMISSION

Liner Makes Report on Place Which, It Is Agreed, Is Not Adequate

PATIENTS ASKED TO PAY

New Election Officials Are Named for City Election In April

Members of the city commission last night discussed means of improving the detention hospital, or pesthouse. Carl Liner, in charge of the hospital, was before the commission to make a report, following the filing of a communication by several former patients making allegations to the effect that the hospital was insanitary and poorly conducted.

It was generally agreed that the pesthouse is not a fit detention hospital. Liner said that the building was not impervious to cold—that when a strong north or south wind blew it was almost impossible to keep the place heated. The pump now in use also is worn out and some other facilities are not adequate, Liner said.

Liner presented a report purporting to show that of a total of 45 patients who have been in the hospital since last June, who were charged $15 per week by the city to cover cost of maintenance, only a few had paid, the total amount paid being $40. Liner was instructed to place the accounts in the hands of the police department for collection.

Liner also complained that his wife received no pay for aiding him at the hospital, and the matter of compensation for her will be taken up. There are now five patients in the hospital. It was decided to make improvements as soon as all of the patients are out of the building.

A petition was received by the commission asking that a sidewalk be constructed on the west side of Eleventh street from Avenue A to Avenue C and on the north side of Avenue B from Tenth to Eleventh street. The sidewalk was ordered in as of May 15, the work to be done as soon as practicable.

L. H. Langley, representing the Odd Fellows, appeared before the board to make arrangements to obtain the use of the auditorium during the three-day convention of Odd Fellows of the state, which will be held here in June. Permission was granted to use the auditorium.

Some changes in officials for the city election were made, because of inability of certain persons to serve. W. P. Loman replaces Louis Carufel as inspector and Ed Buchanan replaces Frank Ellsworth as judge in the Fifth ward, and R. H. Thistlethwaite replaces Robert Dutton as judge in the First ward, east precinct.

The voting place in the west precinct of the Second ward was changed from Dr. Roan's garage to William Kraft's garage, at Thayer and Hannifan streets. The voting place in the Second ward, east precinct, will be in the Will school.

Election boards were to get together today to go over the poll books. Voters also could register today, but it is expected the heavy registration will be next Tuesday.

AGREEMENT ON RAILROAD WAGE HELD IMPORTANT

Atterbury Says It Is Most Serious Question Before Country

Chicago, March 22.—The question of national agreements between railroads and their employees is the most serious question confronting the American people today, W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania, told the railroad labor board during the third day of cross examination of high railroad officials by Frank T. Walsh, labor union attorney.

Mr. Atterbury charged the national agreements were foisted on the roads without any attempt at conference and that labor leaders refused to allow their employees to confer with railroad officials over the agreement.

"HELL'S KITCHEN" POLICEWOMEN

Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, Director, and some of her force in New York's Women's police precinct.

WOMEN RULE IN POLICE PRECINCT

By Newspaper Enterprise.

New York, March 22.—Almost in the center of "Hell's Kitchen," the vicinity of West 37th street and Tenth avenue, stands a new sort of police station, the headquarters for New York's women's police precinct.

It's the first time that a police precinct has been run for women by women.

The purpose, as explained by Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, its director, is to train recruits, to perfect policewomen already in the department, and to educate the public in matters pertaining to the police department.

The education of the public would include courses in Red Cross first aid, public health and sanitation, and police practice and procedure.

"We also intend," says Mrs. Hamilton, "to make the precinct a refuge for girls lured to the city by great ambition, only to have that ambition crushed."

"Few realize that there are more than 15,000 runaway cases in a year, that 70 per cent of these are girls, and that more than half of them have committed crimes of some kind."

"Yet when they are detained, they are thrown into contact with the lowest class of women."

"We will give over a part of our precinct building to dormitories for such cases."

Mrs. Hamilton has been in the New York police department for four years, as head of the Missing Person Bureau.

The force to be attached to the precinct includes 20 policewomen, 58 matrons and 55 welfare workers.

The only manner in which it might have caught, he said, was from some heating stove, but they were found not in their protected chambers.

POSSE TRAILS BAND OF CATTLE THIEVES IN S. D.

One of Biggest Manhunts in Western Section Being Conducted by Shanks

SEEK "BUFFALO GEORGE"

Cattle and Horse Loss Has Been Tremendous During Last Four Years

Kadoka, S. D., March 22.—One of the biggest manhunts in the history of western South Dakota is being conducted for "Buffalo George," alleged cattle rustler and 14 members of his band. A posse of deputy sheriffs were reported out on the trail of "Buffalo George" and his band with orders to take them "dead or alive."

The hunt was being carried in the "Bad Lands" in the Big Bend district of the Missouri river and in stretches of the Crow Creek and Lower Brule Indian reservations.

The chase, according to members of the posse, may last for weeks, as the order is to stay on the trail until the outlaw is taken.

Losses Enormous

Cattle and horses valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars have disappeared from ranges in South Dakota the last four years and all of the losses are attributed to the depredations of "Buffalo George" and his band.

Three men believed to be members of the gang, have been arrested, and the authorities are now attempting to terminate finally operations of the rustlers.

"Buffalo George" who is 60 years old, is said to have served a four year sentence for cattle rustling and was paroled. Since his return to the lower Brule reservation, ranchers say he has carefully organized the business of rustling.

Captured members of the outlaw's band told authorities here that "Buffalo George" had declared he would never be taken alive.

Served Time for Rustling

An associate of the renegade, Jack Sully, of a decade or more ago, Wilbur George, known on the range as Buffalo George, has served time in the state's prison for the offense for which he is now sought. On parole, the outlaw began almost immediately to drive off unwanted stock and horses, summoning many of his old partners, which ran half way across the state and into Nebraska where the stolen stock was marketed in Omaha.

Alleged Rustler Confesses

One of his men, in making a run of some cattle across the ice in the Missouri river broke through, contracted pneumonia and in a hospital at Fort Pierre he made out a partial confession. When well again he was closely questioned and the ramifications of the gang was laid bare. Three other alleged members of the gang, Dick Stevenson, Frank Goodwin and Jack Baldwin were arrested as a result of these revelations and sentenced to prison from Buffalo county. They implicated "Buffalo George" in their dealings.

George issued a challenge to the state sheriff's office to "get him," and State Sheriff John C. Shanks accepted, the "dare."

Reported Near Murdo

Today in Kadoka, there gathered Deputy Sheriff Charles Peters and Sheriff William S. Samis of Stanley county and J. C. Babcock of Jones county, with orders to bring back George dead or alive. They received tips that George was in the vicinity of Murdo near here. The alleged rustler has sworn he will not be taken.

"Buffalo George" has recently been seen in the Lower Brule, where it is known he has land in that district in the neighborhood of Fresno, and it is believed he will be in that neighborhood. From the Lower Brule the search will extend into the Crow Creek reservation and thence southward along the path of the "underground railway" by means of which the stolen cattle have been smuggled out of the state.

While "Buffalo George" is the principal quarry in the hunt, the other 14 members of the gang of rustlers, still at large, also are wanted. Every effort will be made to prevent George from joining his gang or mobilizing them for organized resistance.

2 WHISKEY RUNNERS ARE CAPTURED IN LONG CHASE NORTH AND EAST OF CITY

Two whisky runners, operating a high-powered automobile, were captured last night with a booze cargo valued at $1,500 in a 75-mile chase in which Inspector Dunbar of the state license department and sheriff Welch were victorious according to information from the office of Attorney General Lemke today.

The two men, who gave their names as Staley and Klein, were said to be Omaha, Nebraska, men and were traveling south in a 7-passenger Buick with the booze. The officers took up the trail and chased them through Wing and Steele and other towns, a distance of 70 miles, before they were overhauled.

The men will be prosecuted under house bill No. 5, which carries drastic penalties, especially if the men are armed or are using another man's automobile, which makes it a penitentiary offense.

Two whisky runners were chased several miles Saturday night by Sheriff Ole Stefferud of McLean county and a squad from the state licensing department. Two men captured had 14 cases of liquor, it is said, and also were captured after a chase of several miles. As the officers began to overtake the whisky car and were pouring shots into it the driver ran the car into a snow bank. Two men escaped.

AGREEMENT ON PACKER-LABOR DISPUTE NEAR?

Reports Are, as Harding's Cabinet Assembles, of Settlement

SECRETARIES CONFERENCE

Hoover, Davis and Wallace All Take Up the Situation

Washington, Mar. 22.—An agreement between the fire big meat packers and their employees through which present wage and other disputes will be amicably adjusted was forecast today a short time before a second joint conference of spokesmen for both sides with Secretary Davis at the labor department. Secretary Davis told the cabinet at the regular session that good progress toward a settlement had been made and from other sources it was learned that the negotiations had advanced so far that the further attendance of Secretaries Hoover and Wallace at the conference was not regarded as necessary. It was said both sides had tentatively agreed to a settlement, and that all that remains was to bring them together in final terms at the joint conference late today.

Washington, Mar. 22.—As the cabinet assembled today to consider the controversy between the meat packers and their employees there were reports that a tentative agreement was being approached. One plan being considered was that the wage reduction which went into effect yesterday should stand; that the packers agree to extend the Alschuler agreement providing for settlement of differences by a permanent arbitrator and that the eight-hour day be agreed upon, subject to peculiar conditions obtaining in the packing industry.

EARLY HEARING ON WAGE CASE IS ANTICIPATED

Supreme Court Action Advances Final Determination of It

The cases in which attacks are made on the minimum wage requirements for women adopted by members of the Workmen's Compensation Board, sitting as members of a minimum wage board, are expected to proceed to trial on their merits, as a result of the decision of the supreme court in upholding the action of District Judge Nussale in granting temporary injunctions against enforcement of certain classes of the orders.

The supreme court, in an opinion written by Justice Grace, holds that Judge Nussale did not abuse his discretion in continuing in force the temporary restraining orders until the final disposition of the cases on their merits in the trial court.

"The opinion is justified, and does, dispose of the appeal in each of said cases, so far as the questions presented in those appeals are here requested," said Judge Grace. "We refrain entirely from expressing any opinion, with reference to the merits of either case."

The cases were brought by the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company and the Grand Forks Steam Laundry company. A similar case was filed by the North Dakota Independent Telephone company and attorney filed a stipulation that the action in the first two named cases would obtain as to the latter case.

In Judge Nussale's court the following orders of the minimum wage board were attacked: sanitary regulations as to drinking water, ventilation, dressing room, etc., providing minor is employed by week or day and is available, 36 to 48 hours a week shall constitute a full week, etc.; regulating minors' employment; minimum wage of female office workers; minimum wage of female telephone workers; minimum wage of female laundry workers.

PRIVATE BANKS CONTINUING TO PAY STATE BANK

Continued Liquidation of Accounts Indicated in Statement

SITUATION DISCUSSED

The monthly statement of the Bank of North Dakota, issued today, as of March 15, shows a continued decrease in the amount due from depository banks in North Dakota on account of redemptions, representing an increased liquidation of assets in private banks.

The statement also shows an increase in available cash over the statement of a month ago, the amount of cash on hand and cash items increasing from $49,885.72 to $88,510.18 and the amount due from correspondent banks outside of North Dakota increasing from $105,010.26 on February 15 to $39,542.45 on March 15.

The amount due from banks in the state on cash items shows a great decrease, indicating increased ability of the banks to meet their obligations. The decrease is from $351,204.07 on Feb. 15 to $262,628.94 on March 15.

The comment accompanying the statement is headed "Our Financial Dilemma and the Way Out."

"The management of the Bank of North Dakota admits that the present situation is intolerable," the statement says. "It agrees that a way out must be found, and that very soon, unless the financial stability of the state is to be so seriously undermined that it would take years to re-establish it."

The opponents of the state administration are severely criticized, as are the private banks of the state. It is asserted the opponents of the administration have not taken the initiative in solving the problems confronting the state. The Bank of North Dakota, the statement says, "if it is successful in getting the greater part of these redemptions out of the private banks, it will be able to liquidate all county and local funds for payment in so far as demands for payment are likely to be paid. It is estimated that deposits of public funds will reach nearly $10,000,000 by April 15, with payment of taxes."

It is declared, however, that the Grand Forks mill cannot be completed until bonds are sold or real estate loans resumed until bonds are sold.

"It also must be recognized that more than $4,000,000 of the funds of the bank are in loans made to farmers and to state industries to be replaced from the proceeds of the sale of bonds," the statement says. "At the bank has approximately $1,250,000 in closed banks."

The statement shows "bills payable" none, indicating the $1,000,000 Chicago loan was paid entirely. The bank formerly listed $1,000,000 bills payable on account of the Chicago loan.

Loans to banks decreased from $2,461,011.38 to $2,312,655.95. The public deposits, sinking fund, decreased from $3,709,768.07 to $3,559,165.25. The public deposits of the state treasurer increased from $2,411,978.21 to $3,109,445.77. The public deposits, county, city, township, school, decreased from $3,821,835.15 to $3,887,648.87.

PITTSBURG MAN MAKES WONDERFUL STATEMENT

Declares Tanlac Enabled Him to Eat Better, Sleep Better and Work Better.—Has Gained Thirty Pounds.

"I consider Tanlac the greatest medicine in the world, for I have actually gained 30 pounds in weight since I began taking it. It has just simply filled me with new life and energy and for the first time in years I can sit down to the table and enjoy three square meals a day like other people. In fact, Tanlac has made me eat better, feel better, sleep better and work better, and I guess that's all a man can expect of a medicine."

"Before I took Tanlac, I was off 25 pounds in weight and was so badly run down I was hardly able to do my work. Nothing seemed to agree with me and my food invariably soured on my stomach. I would always have an uncomfortable bloated up feeling in my stomach, and although I tried many kinds of medicines, I never got relief until I took Tanlac."

"I also suffered considerably at times from rheumatism, but this has all disappeared. In fact, this wonderful medicine has made a new man out of me in every way. I feel years younger and can do as much work as in any day of my life."

"Of course, I am only too glad to give you my testimonial because I want other people who are suffering as I did to take this medicine and get relief."

The above remarkable statement was made by Harry M. Allen, residing at 1009 Saint Martin Street, Pittsburgh, Pa., a well known employee of the Oliver Iron & Steel Company of that city. Mr. Allen is a well known member of the United Presbyterian Church and is highly respected by all who know him.

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow, in Dickinson by N. D. and J. H. Barotte, in Wing by H. P. Homan, in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co., STRATTON & ERAP, REGAN.

This is the First Day of Spring

Today, March 21st, is the first day of Spring—the day that everybody has agreed upon as the time when "business will open up." Business is here. It starts from now. It should be greater every day.

Industry is awakening. On all sides you see the evidences of this. In every newspaper you read of resumption of work.

Back to normal! It is a cheering thought. Employer, employee, dealer and customer are glad of it.

Out in the country the crops are being put in as of old. Mother Nature never takes a vacation. She is swinging into her spring work, making the seeds sprout and the crops grow. The food of the world is going to be produced. The foundation of all prosperity exists as it always did.

Business is here. It is ready at your hand. It is not something to be waited for, not something to be wished for. It is.

The first day of spring is a splendid starting point. Winter, with all its handicaps and disappointments, is behind, and can be forgotten. Ahead of us all are days that grow better and better, days when work will count more and more, when mutual understanding and helpfulness will bring their lasting benefits. The roads are getting better, the shops are showing the new things, people are putting money into circulation. Your dollar, paid out for a necessity, does not stop working. It keeps going on and on—increasing the volume of business.

"Good times" are coming back with the sunshine and the flowers, with the humming of machinery and the song of the whistles. The hour for moping and complaining has gone; the time for hustling and prospering is with us.

In the automotive industry the news is encouraging. Passenger car and truck manufacturers are welcoming the first day of spring with increased activities to satisfy the coming demand.

And here in the Goodrich plant the opening of spring finds us ready to serve our old and new customers through the Goodrich dealers in the efficient manner that has characterized our organization for fifty years.

It is the first day of spring—the dawn of the good business era for us all.

EGG IN TRANSIT GETS ATTENTION

Product Comes High Because So Many Are Broken.

AND IT IS NOT NECESSARY

Express Company Starts Campaign of Education Among Big Shippers and Producers—Trying to Get Them to Comply With Rules of Packing and Shipping Which Will Avert Unnecessary Losses Both to Themselves and to the Express Company.

In all big business this is an era of saving. Economy is the watchword in all the big corporations—economy in operation, machinery, labor, food and supplies of all kinds, but especially food. Now, take eggs—

In the office of H. M. James, superintendent of claims for the American Railway Express company in New York, is a portfolio full of most convincing looking photographs of broken eggs. And there need not be any smashed eggs, or at any rate not half so many, according to Mr. James. So the express company has started an educational campaign for making egg travel safe.

Efforts are being made to reach the big egg shippers in different parts of the country, bringing home to them the needless loss in eggs, and trying to get them to comply with rules of packing and shipping which will avert unnecessary losses both to themselves and the express company. Another campaign among handlers, including all company employees, is also under way. Agricultural colleges and state institutions are co-operating in an effort to bring forcibly before the public the fact that there is a tremendous and constant loss in eggs, much of it needless. The express company is advertising broadcast the fact that it will welcome suggestions for the packing and shipping of eggs. It wants new ideas for containers, already patented or otherwise, all of which ideas will be sifted and tried out.

Seek Perfect Container.

Pending the discovery of the perfect egg container, eggs shipped in the case now in general use, the standard 30-dozen affair familiar to every one, would stand a better chance if shippers would not neglect to insert the excelsior-filled pads which are supposed to be used. These "cushions," as they are called, theoretically go on the bottom of each egg case, and on the top, as well as under the top layer of eggs.

"We don't get a very large proportion of shippers to use the three cushions, however, although the cost would be but 8 cents to the case," said Mr. James. "They stand the loss—and the public pays more for its eggs."

Better than the egg cushions in some respects are the brown cardboard "honey-comb" fillers, five tiers in each side of the case, which hold three dozen eggs each, and the crisp cross sections which leave spaces two and a quarter inches high. These would be almost perfect, or at least better, than anything else, according to Mr. James, if the faithful hen could be induced to lay eggs exactly to measure, or if shippers would ship eggs of exactly uniform size. But cases come through with eggs two and a half inches in length, or even as long as two and seven-eighths. These bigger eggs are the ones that arrive broken.

Then the "honey-comb" fillers are soon weakened and softened by dampness, according to Mr. James. Thereafter they bend and the eggs move back and forth and strike on the edge of the case or on the dividing board in the center.

Figures for egg breakage, according to claims passing through the office of the American Railway Express company, are truly enormous. The Produce News of January 15 set the amount at $100,000 monthly, practically all for the 11 Eastern states, and mostly on shipments from the states of Pennsylvania and New York.

Eggs From Afar.

"Eggs are moving freely. Hens have laid well throughout the winter so far on account of the open winter and shipments have been heavy," said Mr. James the other day in discussing the new campaign. "Eggs come here from the South, the Southwest and the West, in addition to the general movement from nearer points. The proportion of breakage bears no relation to the distance. Perhaps in a journey from a point 100 miles away, the shipment is handled more times than a shipment coming from a distant point. The number of times a case is handled in express service will average higher, anyway, than in freight service."

"The method now in use, however, is not the proper one," said Mr. James. There should be an improved method of packing. The losses are tremendous in this very valuable food product. The best device, in my opinion, among those already patented and on the market is the cup-filler, where the ordinary cardboard that is replaced by one with molded cuplike indentations. The thick molded pulpboard of this cup-filler system affords more protection to the egg, which is kept in an upright position in its compartment."

Killed Self When Pinned Under Car. Pinned under his overturned motor car, Joseph B. Nichols of Wichita, Kan. ended his life with a revolver his wife had insisted he take as a protection against holdups.

Leaves on Business Trip. W. S. Mitchell of the state bank examiner's office left Saturday night for an extended business trip to New Orleans and other southern cities. He expects to be gone two weeks.

RULE ON BEER BY PALMER IS UNDER ATTACK

Head of Anti-Saloon League
Calls It "Astounding Decision"

TO ASK RESTRICTIONS

Washington, March 22.—The anti-saloon is prepared to fight until the opinion by former Attorney General Palmer holding that beer may be prescribed as a medicine is overruled. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the league, announced tonight in a formal statement.

The league he added, has a number of plans to be used as the occasion demands.

"It is an astounding proposition that beer can be sold at soda fountains with all that it implies," Mr. Wheeler said in reference of a recent statement by the former attorney general.

as the effect of his opinion "this last statement makes clearer than ever before the view of the opinion."

Mr. Wheeler declared that even if beer may be prescribed as a medicine the law requires the utmost care on the part of a physician and the keeping of a careful record of all prescriptions.

"The records of the doctor and the druggist are open to inspection," he continued. "No one but a licensed pharmacist may fill the prescription. The doctor or druggist may have his permit revoked at any time he violates the law. These restrictions will prevent sale of beer at soda fountains. The hazard in the trade will be such that reputable physicians and druggists will refuse to handle this booze medicine in most places."

Mr. Wheeler made public a telegram from Frank Blair of Chicago, president of the National Proprietary Association, saying that "the common with entire drug industry we are opposed to sale of beer through the channels of the drug trade."

RUSSIANS ARE HUNGRY SAYS NICK WAZRICK

"Nothing to Eat and Nothing to Buy", Says Former Ryder Man

Ryder, N. D., March 22.—The following letter received by Joe Wustner recently from Nick Nazarek in Russia the social storm center of the world where disorder and starvation are real, is a testimonial of conditions, simply stated, as they exist there that should cause the sons of that soil seriously established in this "Land of the Free" to drop to their knees and offer thanks to God for their happy lot.

Nazarek was working on Mr. Wustner's farm here when the war broke out in 1914 and left to join the Canadian forces. He served throughout the war with the British forces on the Italian front and since the signing of the armistice has been trying to get back to America. The simple words of his letter are more expressive than burning terms of conditions in Russia.

NEW TAX LAW LIMITATION CAUSES DEBATE

House Bill No. 25, which limits the tax levies of political subdivisions to one-third of the amount permitted to be raised by taxation during the years 1918, 1919 and 1920 is causing considerable discussion throughout the state. The bill contains a provision that the taxpayers can vote on the question of raising the levies not to exceed 27 percent of the maximum. Some cities now are discussing a special election.

Governor Frazier in explaining his attitude in signing the bill said that there was a general desire for reduction of taxes, and that while there was some complaint against the bill he felt that the great majority of people wished it to be signed and limitation put up on political subdivisions.

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). ## Keep Your Blood Pure Nature Will Do the Rest

Did you know that ninety percent of all human ailments depend upon the condition of your blood? Nature gives her warnings in various unmistakable ways, so that when the appetite fails, and you become weak and listless and a general run-down condition seems to take possession of the whole body, it is an unfailing sign that impurities will steadily accumulate until your general health will be seriously affected. You should recognize the importance, therefore, of very promptly cleansing out the system, and keeping the blood supply pure and robust.

MOFFIT PLAY WITH HOME TALENT CAST WINS PLAUDITS OF CROWD

The new comedy, "Assisted By Sadie," given in the Moffit hall Saturday night, Mar. 19, 1921, for the benefit of the school Victoria fund was pronounced as the biggest event of the season. In spite of the inclemency of the weather the hall was packed to overflowing. The story of the play consisted of mystery, adventure, humor and romance and took place at a fashionable seaside hotel. The many twists and turns of the original plot kept the audience in a constant state of wonder.

Mrs. H. P. Asaelstine acted as director and is to be congratulated for the management and efforts put forth to help make it a success.

George Mauk, the millionaire mystery and philosopher had the heaviest part in the play. He kept them all in a constant wonder and got into a number of difficult parts in splendid style.

Nellie Benz, the stenographer, played her part well, both as a stenographer for the hotel and an investigating agent for the jewelry insurance company.

Burns Bailey, the detective, played the part of a typical villain. Ada Peterson, the wealthy widow, had one of the heaviest parts and was perfectly at home on the stage, playing her part with marked cleverness throughout the play.

Harold Lane made an up-to-date hotel proprietor and played well from start to finish.

Dora Briggs, the adventuress, made a typical Spanish lady and cleverly characterized her part.

Clair Porter, the witty bell boy played in fine style and with the help of Antonia Parzych, the Irish maid, they kept the house in a titter from beginning to end.

the fine supper which was served at the Forbes home, Johannes Atchally, R. Porter, C. E. Moffit, Forbes and Watrous, were congratulated.

ASKS HELP FOR N. P. PROGRAM

Jamestown, N. D., March 22.—A. A. Niederbach, chairman of the Nonpartisan navy-organized state executive committee, has issued a statement calling for a "clean-cut fight to a finish" in line with the declarations of the National Nonpartisan league and the wishes of the recent state convention.

"Four years ago," the statement says, "the farmers of North Dakota wrote their declaration of independence and emancipation from big business control. The war on privileged interests thereby declared will not be ended until a 'clean-cut victory' has been won."

"These privileged interests answered the farmers' declaration by organizing a relentless campaign of suppression, terrorism, misrepresentation, lies and individual persecutions, but our industrial program still stands in North Dakota, and we believe that from it alone will come help to our farmers. In our fight for justice we appeal to all fair-minded people wherever they may be in city or county to cooperate with us to bring about better conditions for all workers."

"This appeal is not confined to North Dakota alone. We ask all liberal-minded people, all over the nation to cooperate with us in making a success of our state industries already in operation and others in the making. Our bonds are on the market now, and an investigation will prove that they are the most attractive investment in the nation today."

"The success of our program depends upon the loyalty of our people. So if you believe in a better future for North Dakota stand together in this fight for those principles that will make for better living for all mankind."

Marian McNally, the college professor, who collected vast sums for his church orphan asylum in Iowa, got into a lot of traps on account of his near-sightedness, but handled his part real well.

Arline Asaelstine, Minnie Johnson and Helen Olson had very little to say, being guests at the seaside hotel for a short time only, but fitted in very nicely. The committee in charge of

A Little Talk on Banking

One of the cleverest and most careful businessmen of Bismarck, you would all agree in this if we should give you his name, told us recently of a plan which he had worked out.

He said, "You know that sometimes a fellow will find himself short of ready cash when insurance premiums come due or the taxes must be paid. Let me tell you what I did early last year. I estimated the total of the taxes, life and fire insurance and certain other fixed charges for 1920 and then deposited in your savings department one-twelfth of that total amount. Each month I made similar deposit and as a result had on hand during the year and at the close a sum sufficient to meet without any strain on other resources all expenditures for the purpose for which the fund was started."

We think that his idea is a good one.

To illustrate: suppose for 1921 you are likely to require or would wish to provide funds for the following purposes:

Taxes on House	$150.00
Life and Fire Insurance	200.00
Vacation Trip	200.00
Christmas Present	50.00
Annual Overhauling of Automobile
(If you have one)	150.00
Birthday Present for Wife	50.00

If this is your total $800.00

deposit each month in our saving department $66.66 where it will draw interest compounded quarterly. Make a similar deposit each month and see how easily the plan will work.

It can be varied, reduced or enlarged, to meet the requirements of everyone, merchant, professional man, teacher, clerk, mechanic, men and women in every walk of life.

Try it for 1921 and thereafter.

TERCENTENARY COMMEMORATED

The colonial play "Captain of Plymouth" to be put on by local talent on the evening of March 29th in the city auditorium is a feature of the national celebration under the auspices of the federal and state government.

Because of the numerous exercises held throughout the country during the past year in honor of the Tercentenary of the Landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, there has developed an impression that the entire observance was confined to 1920. That impression is almost wholly wrong, however. Such celebrations as already have been held, with the exception of that on December 21 last, at Plymouth, were almost entirely of a local character. While it is true that during the last year, observances of the tercentenary have been held at Provincetown, Plymouth and other places in New England, the real celebrations for which the federal government has appropriated $400,000 and for which the state of Massachusetts has appropriated a similar sum, have not been held. In fact, plans are just being completed for this year's celebration, under the auspices of the federal and state governments. At the present time the Legislatures of New England states, and those of other sections of the country, are making appropriations to permit of their giving a proper recognition to the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim fathers.

The exercises at Plymouth, and in that vicinity, as outlined by the United States and the Massachusetts Tercentenary commissions, will continue from April to September. These exercises, in so far as possible, will be of such a character as will portray the lives of the Pilgrims during the first summer in the new colony. It is toward this end that the commissions have been working and planning during the past 18 months.

The local play promises something unique in shows and will have beautiful costumes for Pilgrims and Indians, novel lighting effects, bright dialogue and splendid chorus work. Bismarck should turn out to commemorate the tercentenary of the Landing of the Pilgrims.

HELP CHILD WELFARE WORKERS

The finance committee of the Women's Community Council are formulating plans under the direction of the school nurse, Miss Hutchinson, whereby special funds may be secured for the purchase of milk and to procure medical aid for children in schools who are under weight and need medical care beyond what many families are prepared to give.

Mrs. E. Bannou, chairman of the finance committee, with her assistants Mrs. F. E. Conklin and Mrs. J. P. French will invite other women to accompany them tomorrow (Wednesday) on their tour about the business districts seeking small amounts for the purchase of the necessary help for the children. With the funds secured milk will be ordered sent in small bottles to the grade rooms of the various schools and needy children will be given milk during the day. Those needing medical attention other than the parents can readily provide, will be cared for from the fund also.

This plan is being carried out in Minot and several North Dakota towns and is proving a boon in the way of conserving the children of our state. It is hoped that Bismarck will respond readily when the women call tomorrow.

"GRAND OLD LADY" OF WASHINGTON SEES GREATEST ERA AHEAD

MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN

WASHINGTON, March 22.—They call her the "Grand Old Lady." Her very name conjures up romance, for as wife and widow of the Civil War's most dashing general, John A. Logan, she has shared the tang of adventure ever associated with "The Black Eagle."

At 17 she married Logan, then a country lawyer in Illinois. As a girl bride she trudged across the plains, enduring all the hardships of early pioneer life.

Then came the Civil War with all its excitements, dangers, separations, loneliness for the young wife and her little brood at home.

But it brought honors. "The Black Eagle" to this day is a hero to the schoolboy who knows his history well. "We are just entering upon the most wonderful period of our national history," Mrs. Logan told me in her home, "Eagle Crest," on a Washington hilltop.

She said women would exercise increasing influence on our national destinies, but added, "A woman may have as much brain as a man, but she should keep out of politics."

Mrs. Logan's face became as animated as a schoolgirl's as she commented on national issues, past and present.

"Our reconstruction problems differ now from those following the Civil War," she said. "Most of our people then were of native stock. They lived on farms and raised most of their own food."

"Now most of our people live in cities. And we have a large foreign-born population which hasn't been assimilated."

"We should allow more time to elapse before we grant the new-comers from foreign land an equal share in our institutions. We should see that they have every opportunity to know them and respect them, however. Then their coming will be helpful to us both."

ST. GEORGE'S LENTEN SERVICES

A Mission Service will be held in the church on Wednesday evening at 7:30, when the Rector will speak of "Gods Love as Portrayed in the story of the Prodigal Son." This will be the last of the Wednesday evening services and all are urged to attend.

On the morning following, Maundy Thursday, the anniversary of the institution of the Holy Eucharist, there will be an early celebration at 7:30.

On Good Friday there will be the usual three hours service from 12 noon to 3 p. m. The Rev. F. Dewhurst will give seven meditations on the last words of The Blessed Lord as He paid the Supreme Sacrifice. This service is open to all. Come into Church at any time during the "Three hours" and feel free to depart when ever you find it necessary.

The Church will be decorated for Easter on Saturday afternoon. Gifts of flowers, which will afterwards be given to the sick, will be gladly received. The Church will be open on Saturday, Easter Eve, from 7 to 9, for silent prayer and meditation.

WHY BE STRONG?

Woman admires strength in man. To her the thought of strength is always synonymous with the thought of man.

Her ideal man is physically perfect. The athlete with his well rounded muscles and perfect symmetry evokes an admiration from woman that spindle legs and bony arms can never do.

And what is true of woman and her ideals for man is likewise true of man in his ideals of woman. He, too, loves the physically perfect.

If you'd win the admiration of the other sex, go in for athletics.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

On March 20th occurred the 69th anniversary of the publication in book form of Harriet Beecher Stowe's deathless story, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." And it still lives, both in the cinema and on the speaking stage.

You know, of course, that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was first published serially in the National Era, and that Mrs. Stowe was paid $300 for her effort. Had it not been for a young Boston publisher, J. P. Jewett, who took the risk in its book publication in 1852, the famous characters of the story would have been unknown to fame. He arranged publication on a 10 per cent royalty basis. Its success was astounding. Before long eight presses were running to keep pace with the demand.

Though slavery may be dead, the story of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will persist, and the souls of Uncle Tom and Little Eva, like that of John Brown, will go marching on.

TRY IT ANOTHER WAY

The lever was man's first invention. He placed a tree trunk under a mammoth's carcass and pried it up. Then one day they came a "genius" who dropped a rock on the end of a poised lever and thus was born the first machine delivering power. Look about you. When you see persons engaged in simple mechanical operations, experiment a little "Do the trick," another way. Perhaps it won't "work," but then again you may discover a new and better process.

For untold years man has separated gold nuggets from sand by mixing both with water and then carefully shaking the inclosing vessel until the heavier gold sank to the bottom and the sand was carried away.

That is a slow process and altogether unsatisfactory. Just this year a "genius" made the overwhelming "discovery" that if a mixture of sand and gold bits was left dry and shaken vertically, in about one-tenth of the time it would take to pan a wet sand and gold mixture, all the gold in the dry mixture would rise to the top of the sand.

He's applied for patent on his gold separator. Barring misfortune he'll be wealthy and they'll call him a "genius," because he was the first man to do this thing backward.

HE WAS THE NOISY ROOMER

The landlady couldn't stand it any longer, and the roomers threatened to leave unless the racket stopped.

Alexander Graham Bell was the cause of the trouble. He had rigged up a contraption in his bedroom and a duplication in the room of his accomplice, Thomas A. Watson. A wire went out the window and connected the two machines.

These machines, according to young Bell, were first models of a revolutionary invention, the telephone.

"I don't care what it is," said the landlady, "but if you two boys don't stop yelling your heads off into those boxes, you'll have to pack your trunks and get out."

"We have to yell to make ourselves heard over the wire," Bell protested. "That's one of the problems I haven't worked out yet."

Resourceful young Watson hit upon a scheme to curb the cause of the landlady's wrath. He took the blankets off his bed and made a small tent. The telephone was inside and there was an opening for admitting the head. This muffled the sound and the two inventors could yell to their hearts' content.

Years afterward, as Watson related in his memoirs the blanket tent evolved into the sound proof telephone box.

This episode of the angry landlady happened years ago in a cheap lodging house in Boston.

The Western Union Telegraph Company offered Bell $100,000 for all his patents. Bell with vision realized that he had a fortune within grasp and rejected the offer. He and Watson went around the country, delivering lectures, and with the proceeds financed themselves.

Today there is a telephone to every nine Americans and more than 24,000,000 miles of wire in the Bell telephone lines.

Strange things come out of rooming houses, as will be testified by the tens of millions who have lodged in them. And stranger things will come. Possibly that fellow who is making such a racket in "the hall bedroom back" on the third floor is a future Alexander Graham Bell.

And isn't the story of Bell inspiring to the rest of us, now confined in a single room and wondering what the future has in store?

DRESS AND THE WOMAN

Dress makes or breaks a woman, so far as appearances are concerned.

If you doubt this, just take a look in the old family album.

What a commentary it is on the varying degrees of ugliness that women affect from time to time according to the mandates of style.

Forms that might have served as models for Greek goddesses are pinched into corsets that leave no hint of the grace and beauty concealed within that instrument of torture.

Brows that might have graced a Madonna are hidden behind mops of bangs or frizzes that disfigure rather than enhance their natural beauty.

In fact, it is exceptional to find a single woman to whom the dress is so admirably adapted that it has survived the lapse of time and still reveals lines of beauty.

But women are learning, and it may be that the lesson of the old family album has had no little share in bringing about the reforms that are so apparent in woman's dress.

Women are learning the art of adapting the dress to the individual rather than the individual to the dress, with the result that they are better dressed than ever before.

They are learning that simplicity and fitness are the two ideals to be sought in dress, rather than slavish conformity to any particular mode.

IS YOURS A "DUSTY" BIBLE?

In a recent motion picture occurs a trivial incident, the significance of which is quickly grasped by everyone in the audience.

The villain of the play reaches into his book case for a Bible. Before opening it, he blows the dust from its edges. A mere gesture, but it is one of the best touches in the play. The audience understands and smiles appreciation. The incident holds the mirror up to a familiar thing in many homes—the dusty Bible.

Lying unused on may shelves it offers in vain its wisdom, its consolation and its romance, while the unsated hearts of the owners seek in vain for new thrills in the best sellers.

Who knows a sweeter story than the Book of Ruth? And tragedy more sublime than the story of the Crucifixion? And philosophy more wholesome than that of Ecclesiastes, or of the "Proverbs"? Or poetry finer than the Song of Solomon?

The Bible has the wonderful quality of being always new, presenting unexplored depths of light at every reading. It is like one of those wonderful old attics of our childhood days where at every visit, we would discover, hidden away, something we had missed on our last visit.

"An active mind," said President John Quincy Adams, "cannot peruse a single chapter and lay the book aside to think, and take it up again tomorrow, without finding in it advice for our own conduct, which we may turn to useful account in the progress of our daily pilgrimage on earth."

Included in the wages of sin are the defending lawyer's fees.

One way to increase the number of law violators is to increase the number of laws.

"The day of the vampire is waning," observes Theda Bara. A few gray hairs and some wrinkles do it, eh?

THE HAMON VERDICT

The verdict in the Hamon trial was a foregone conclusion; nobody probably expected any other result.

In the first place there was no positive evidence of guilt of intentional murder. The intention may have existed, but the shadow of a doubt was too dark and heavy to permit a clear conclusion. There was too much evidence in support of the plea of self-defense, and back of all that, the conviction that whether the killing was intentional or accidental, it removed from the one whose record not only evoked no repentment of his taking off, but a natural feeling that he suffered what he deserved. He was the chief offender, the one guilty of a greater crime than any involved in his death.

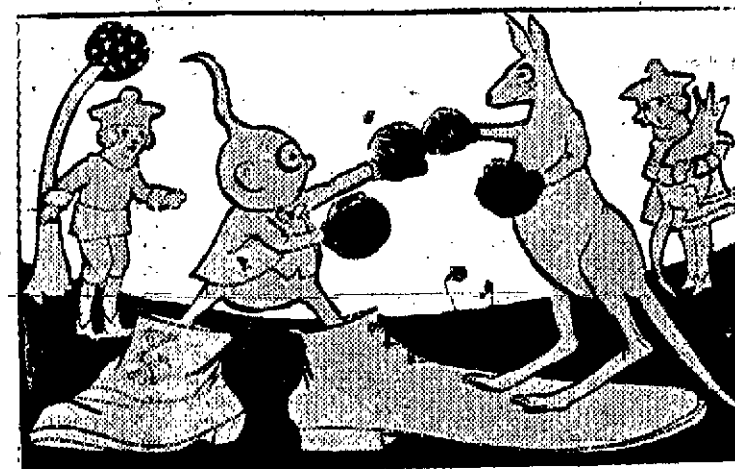

It is not an unwholesome manifestation of sentiment that there should be no regret at his departure. The world is better off without him. The chief cause for regret should be the sentimental approbation of a weak and wicked girl, one who is now old enough and experienced enough to realize her own degradation and shame, and who, if she were right-minded, would seek to hide herself from the world. How she is to be regarded hereafter will depend altogether upon the determination and success with which she withdraws herself from the public gaze.—Minneapolis Tribune.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

(Copyright, 1921, N. E. A.)

Nancy held Kicky-Kang tenderly in her arms while his mother, Mrs. Kangaroo, and Flippety-Flap, the fairyman, put on the boxing gloves. "Nicky stood by to referee the fight," said Mrs. Kangaroo, happily. "This is like old times! It's just like the circus I used to be in. I boxed with the clown, Mr. Jolly Bobadil, and all the people laughed and clapped their hands. Now, Mr. Flippety-Flap, I'm ready."

Nancy and Nick laughed when Mrs. Kangaroo held up her hands and made passes at the fairyman. She stood on her hind legs and leaned back comfortably on her long, strong tail, like you've seen schoolboys do on the corner fireplug on their way home from school. Before Mr. Flippety-Flap started to box, however, he said, "Excuse me," very politely to Mrs. Kangaroo, and quickly whispered something, first to Nancy's small ear, and then into Nick's.

IN BEHALF OF DISABLED MEN

Bentley Post at Cincinnati Regarded as Model for Systematic Program for Work.

Robert E. Bentley Post of the American Legion at Cincinnati, O., has attracted national attention because of its activities in behalf of sick and disabled veterans of the World war. Its systematic program for work is regarded by Legion officials as a model to posts.

The work has been assigned to four committees: for hospitalization and compensation, hospital entertainment, sick members and employment.

The hospitalization and compensation committee takes care of all cases in which ex-service men seek to obtain their rights from the government. Its duties are to direct the applicant to the proper federal authorities and to follow up the case. The Red Cross has aided the post committee by stationing a worker at the club rooms at all times to handle emergency cases.

Visits to each Cincinnati hospital where veterans are lodged are made at least twice a month by the hospital entertainment committee, which notes the general condition of the hospitals and provides entertainments for the patients.

The sick committee visits all ex-service men in their homes as soon as the cases are brought to the attention of the post members.

A free employment bureau for all veterans is operated at post headquarters by the employment committee.

The Women's Auxiliary of the post has assumed a large share of the work. This organization has a general chairman of hospital work with a sub-chairman for each hospital.

At the General hospital a complete dinner is set once a month. Cigarettes, candy, fruit and cakes are provided weekly at all hospitals, as are magazines and books. At Rockhill the men were supplied with piano and victrola, a motion picture projector, knitting machines, pajamas, sweaters, caps, socks and other comforts. The Auxiliary women have made sheets, pillows and bed socks for the patients. Each man is interviewed at each visit and personal favors are executed whenever possible.

For the benefit of those men who are vocationally handicapped the Auxiliary conducts a shop in the post club rooms where disabled men are employed in the manufacture of wicker, bead and mat work. The articles are marketed by the women and the proceeds are turned over to the veterans.

All caskets of ex-service men passing through Cincinnati have been decorated by the Legion women. Families of Cincinnati men who died in the service are visited and sympathy extended.

SAYS LEGION IS GREATEST

Alaska National Executive Committee Member Points With Pride to American Organization.

Harold F. Dawes, member of the National Executive Committee of the American Legion for Alaska, says that the American Legion is the greatest organization in the United States and backs up his statement with the argument that "any organization is only as great as the people behind it. Political, fraternal or religious organizations must be limited by the prevalence of belief on the subject for which the organization stands. The American Legion, drawing its members from every type of organization and from practically every family in the United States, has the backing of the whole nation."

Mr. Dawes was born and educated in Wisconsin. When he was graduated from high school he went West and finally settled at Wrangell, Alaska, as proprietor of a weekly newspaper. Later, he sold his newspaper and attended Valparaiso University Law school, finishing the course in 1915.

As a member of the artillery park unit of the First army, Mr. Dawes served in France. After his discharge from the army he returned to Alaska and entered the practice of law at Juneau. He is a charter member of Alford John Bradford Post No. 4 of the Legion and is now vice commander of the department of Alaska as well as national committeeman.

Seattle Has Veterans' Hotel.

"Veterans' Hotel" a three-story structure with accommodations for 250 Seattle unemployed ex-service men, is the result of the activities of Seattle Post No. 18 of the American Legion and a committee of prominent citizens of that city. Any veteran in need of temporary shelter will be housed in the hotel for a reasonable length of time regardless of Legion membership. The project was financed by the Legion and popular contributions.

M'ALISTER ROSE TO MAJOR

Arkansas Officer's Unit Made Record for Number of Men Discharged in One Day.

Heber L. McAlister of Conway, Ark., chairman of the Americanism committee of the Arkansas department of the American Legion, endeavored himself to many ex-dough boys when his unit at Camp Dix, N. Y., discharged more men in one day than any other unit in the army. The score which he commanded as a major, was 1,330 discharges in one day.

A member of the Arkansas National Guard, Mr. McAlister entered the federal service early in the war and served in America and France. He rose from second lieutenant to major. Mr. McAlister was educated in the common and high schools of Mississippi and was graduated from Mississippi college. He was an assistant in mathematics at his alma mater for one year and then became a member of the faculty of Ouachita college. He was acting president of the latter institution when he resigned to enter the service. Mr. McAlister is now director of extension at Arkansas State Normal school.

SEARCH FOR BERGDOLL'S AID

Legion is Endeavoring to Find Man Alleged to Have Helped Blacker Reach Germany.

The American Legion is searching for the man who is reported to have aided Grover C. Bergdoll, notorious slacker, in his escape from Canada to Germany, according to Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion, who said that the Legion is especially concerned in that Bergdoll is alleged to have obtained his passport in Winnipeg by using an American Legion button and the army discharge papers of a Legionnaire.

Mr. Bolles has appealed to the Department of Justice to ascertain the facts in the case and proposes, if the report is true, to see that the man is apprehended, expelled from the Legion and brought to a speedy trial. Bergdoll has been the target of numerous attacks of the American Legion. When he "escaped" from prison a reward of $500 was offered for his capture and a number of Legion posts in many parts of the country took similar action to bring about his capture. One post adopted resolutions urging the President to demand the release of the two Americans who tried to recover Bergdoll in Germany.

Substitute for Glass.

A new substitute for glass or for Inquer has been invented in Germany. It can be cut with shears or with a knife and, when heated to more than 100 degrees Centigrade, it forms a kneadable mass which resumes its previous hard state on cooling. It is known as "cellon."

Two Jugular Veins.

There are two jugular veins on each side of the neck. The external jugular veins are just beneath the skin and convey the blood from the external portions of the head and neck to the heart, while the internal jugular veins carry the blood from the internal sinuses to the heart.

Blinded Goldfish.

The naturalist Omer kept goldfish for three years in absolute darkness, taking care to give them plenty of room and plenty of food. The result was total blindness, even the rods and cones of the retina disappeared.

Coconuts as Money.

Coconuts are the common form of exchange among the natives of the Nicobars. For instance, a box of matches is worth 20 coconuts, while for needles the price is one coconut each.

Amateur Farmer's Error.

One reason why a town man sometimes fails at farming is because he thinks more of the picturesque woods and rocks on his place than of the ground that's suitable for corn.

CITY BASEBALL FIELD WILL BE BEST IN STATE

New Grounds Are Natural Park,
Says Secretary of Club
After Inspection

$2000 IS GUARANTEED

Committee Seeking Support for Ball Club Meets With Unusual Success

The best ball field in the state. That's what Bismarck will have this summer, according to H. F. Keller, secretary of the local ball club organization. Yesterday Mr. Keller and others made a thorough inspection of the proposed new field south of the Northern Pacific tracks. They found natural drainage and just the right kind of soil.

The grandstand will be placed in the northeast corner of the field, and there will be no "sun field" in the park, Mr. Keller says. There will be two entrance gates, one for automobiles and one for pedestrians. A registering turnstile will be put in, to accurately record the number of persons who enter the field.

Carpenters today are taking apart the grandstand it replaced. Next Saturday the grandstand and fence will be moved to the new grounds. A volunteer organization is being formed to reduce the expense of moving to a minimum.

As soon as the grandstand and fence are up, the ground will be surveyed and will be rolled with the city's big steam roller, so that the outfield will be as level as any part of the ball field.

Two more good players have been lined up by Secretary Keller. They are Dewey Lyle, of Rock Island, Ill., a spitball pitcher, and Ross Gourd, of Verdala, Minn., an infielder. Neither has been signed.

Yesterday a committee went out to find out if the business men and fans wanted to support a baseball team.

It was remarkable the way every body came to the team's support, he said. "We never asked anyone for less than $25, and we pledged about $2,000. There are a lot of others who can give smaller amounts and we will have another team out in about two weeks."

The initial expense of the new park and of starting the club makes no sense, he said. The committee hopes, however, to make the club self-sustaining during the summer.

LEGION MEN FORM ATHLETIC BODY

Baltimore, March 21.—American Legion members of the state of Maryland have formed an athletic association.

Every part in the state recently sent representatives to Baltimore, where an organization was perfected. Plans are already under way for baseball leagues and the promotion of boxing.

The association is divided into five districts, and championship tournaments will be held in various lines of sport.

HARRY BREITMAN AS A BOXER—AND A STUDENT

If you want an education, get out and fight for it!

That's the advice of Harvey Breitman of Brooklyn.

And he's doing it! In the daytime Breitman is a medical student.

Right now he's known as "Harvey Bright." He's a lightweight in the ring but plans to graduate into a "heavyweight" doctor.

Tracing Origin of Billiards.

Billiards is believed by some to have been brought from the east by the Crusaders, while others claim an English origin for it and find it allied to the game of bowls. Still others assert that the French developed it from an ancient German game. It seems pretty certain that the first person to give form and rule to the game was an artist named Henriette Desvignes, who lived in the reign of Charles IX.

One writer sees in billiards the ancient game of pallmall played on a table instead of on the ground, and this is a reasonable assumption.

What Is a Weed?

According to Webster's International dictionary there are two definitions of a weed: 1. Wild growth in the nature of rank grass, undergrowth, or the like. 2. Any plant growing in cultivated ground to the injury of the crop or desired vegetation, or to the disfigurement of the place, an unsightly, useless or injurious plant. The following note is added: A weed is a plant that is not wanted. There are, therefore, no species of weeds for a plant that is a weed in one place may not be in another.

To Make Friend of Toad.

The toad is not looked upon with any great amount of favor by the average person, and is generally thought of as being "dirty," while the old lady hood superstition that holds the toad a harbinger of disaster for warts still lingers in many adult minds. In reality the toad is a peaceful, friendly little creature that can be tamed in a very few minutes to be "pals" and after a week or so can be made as affectionate as a dog. They are cleaner than any furred animal and are exceedingly interesting as pets.

YAQUI YIELD, TURN TO PEACE

Lay Down Arms After 400
Years on the Warpath

The last tribe of Indians of North America, and the last but two in the new world, has yielded to the march of civilization and, after nearly 400 years of constant warfare against the whites, laid down its knives to pick up shovels and hoes, and turned in its rifles in exchange for tractors and harrows. The tribe, which still numbers somewhat more than 3,000 individuals, is the Yaqui, who have held their mountain valleys and villages in the state of Sonora, in the northwest corner of Mexico, against all comers, ever since they arrived there, supposedly in the Athapascan migration, possibly later, but certainly before the coming of the Spanish conquistadores. In 1530, for these Iberian adventurers found the Yaqui a powerful tribe, whom neither force nor guile could subdue.

Yet, this fall, E. H. Dunn tells the Dearborn Independent, the Yaqui "elder men," led by Chief Mori, went voluntarily to Hermosillo, the capital of the Mexican state of Sonora, and there bound themselves by treaty, not only to forego their raids on the Mexican villages of the coast and to permit exploration of their country by geologists and mineralogists, but also to send their young men and women with such of the older ones as may wish to go, to the reservation set apart for them at Potam, Sonora, on which the Mexican government is now erecting buildings for their use, and installing the latest agricultural machinery for their use in a farm demonstration school. Later, it is announced by the Sonoran government, a general industrial school will be established there, teaching mechanical trades as well as farming.

Tools of Peace.

In addition to this reservation and school, the Yaqui have been given permanent hereditary titles to all the domain they now occupy in the mountains at the headwaters of the Yaqui and Mayo and Fuerte rivers, with preference in the filling on any and all government lands they may wish to take up, especially in the cases of those who have no title or right to any of the tribal lands. The Yaqui agree to furnish 200 young men annually for training in the Mexican federal army, each year's quota to be released from its enlistment at the expiration of three years' service. The government pledges itself to send no armed expeditions to enforce any of its laws, but to leave the policing of the tribe—except those on the Potam reservation—to the council of elder men of the tribe.

In return for the surrender of some 2,000 Mauser and other modern rifles, which the Yaqui have taken in their raids, the government furnishes hunting rifles and ammunition, not to exceed 10,000, estimated to be the number of men and boys who will hunt. The government also agrees to furnish every adult male Yaqui head of a family, who will agree to cultivate faithfully a tract of land, a team of mules, wagon, seed and such farming implements as he may need, at cost, the Indian to pay for them in long-time yearly payments. Some 300 Indians already have asked for this equipment.

The story of this surrender—which carries the memory back to the days of the Five Nations, and follows down to Geronimo's last outbreak and arrest—was brought to the United States by the first Yaqui ever to come to this country on a mission of peace. He is Capt. Celeste Mori, son of the ruling chief of the Yaqui, who arrived in New Orleans, on his way to the agricultural demonstration stations in the sugar cotton and rice districts of Louisiana, and the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical college, to study farming methods and the use of modern agricultural machinery.

Captain Mori, who has been five years on the staff of General Plutarco

Ellas-Calles, former governor of the state of Sonora, and one of the leaders in the recent revolution which established a new government in Mexico, was largely instrumental in bringing his father and the Yaqui tribesmen to bend their knees to civilization, but he gave all the credit for the peace treaty to Gen. Alvaro Obregon and to Gen. Elias-Calles.

Four Centuries of Warfare Ended.

"The cry of all Mexico," he said, "is 'Let us have peace.' It is natural that the mass of the people, who have been at war among themselves for over ten years, should be weary of war, but sometimes it seems impossible for me to believe that my people, who have been fighting some invader or another for four centuries or more, should have made peace as they did, without a battle, solely on the word of one or two men in whom they had confidence. But they signed it, and now the many pages of Mexican history stained with deportations, small wars, raids, forays and massacres, appear to have been turned to the fertile fields swept clean for the plow by the scythe of the machete and the machine gun. Ever since white men came to the new world there has been trouble with the Yaqui, and the great Athapascan migration which halted—both actually in point of movement, and in point of progress in civilization—in the mountains of western Mexico more than ten centuries ago. Discussion of the rights and wrongs of the quarrel is beside the question, now that peace has been made, but the first historical mention of the Yaqui is in the sixteenth century, when the first band of conquistadores came into what is now Sonora. After continuous small wars, the first treaty was made when Don Francisco Ybarra brought my people, nominally, under the Spanish crown.

"One hundred and thirty years passed, a long period of broken agreements, and in 1740 another treaty of peace was signed, and a battalion of Yaqui soldiers, incorporated, just the same as now, in the governmental army, tried to bind the wild race to the royal rulers. This peace, however, did not last long, for the Yaqui demanded absolute control of their tribal lands in the Yaqui river valley and, failing to get this, again took the war path. In 1798 there was an outbreak which exceeded any preceding it, and the war lasted three years, when both sides being exhausted and the forces of the crown far from their base, peace was concluded, which lasted until 1781.

"During this period of quiet, towns sprang up in the Yaqui river valley, and plantations blossomed all over the lower part of Sonora. Gradually, the Yaqui saw their lands slipping away from them, and once more they began war, without warning. Within the next year they destroyed more than a score of towns and villages, virtually all of which, except Altar and Alamos, are still in ruins, the white people having feared to rebuild them during all the 140 years which have succeeded since that time.

The Twenty-Six Years' War.

"Up to 1822 warfare was intermittent, but constant, not a year going by without its foray by the Yaqui, or an expedition against them by federal forces by the many governments which alternately ruled in Mexico. The fight against the Spanish governors was transferred, wholeheartedly, and with the unanimous consent of the tribe, to their successors of the Mexican government, when the nation won its independence from Spain, and continued until the powerful Gen. Jose Urrea patched up another peace treaty, which held until the French invasion. Internal quarrels kept so many troops in the field that no further attempt was made to take lands from the Yaqui, and they remained quietly in the Yaqui river valley, mere watchers of the conflict for state control on the plains and in the valleys below.

"In 1860, however, the Yaqui again went on the war path, and stayed there until, after Mexico had disposed of Maximilian and the Napoleonic dream of new world empire, and a governor appointed by Benito Juarez had taken his seat in Arizona, then capital of Sonora. Gen. Ambrosio Pequelera, who had almost as many 'ups-and-downs' as Francisco Villa, being one day dictator and the next day revolutionist, obtained a treaty with the Yaqui, but the coming of Francisco Serna to supersede Pequelera ended that period of peace, and small combats continued until 1894, when the best-remembered of all the Yaqui outbreaks took place to continue, to all practical intents and purposes, until May, 1920.

Through this period, however, two men had been rising slowly to considerable strength in western Mexico—Alvaro Obregon in Sinaloa, and Plutarco Elias-Calles in Sonora. The former made personal friends of the Yaqui chiefs, and when he became military governor of Sonora let them alone, merely repulsing their raids, sometimes swooping down on them just as they were preparing to start a raid, but never molesting them while they remained quiet on their own lands. They began to respect Obregon, then to fear him and, finally, to admire him, as a man who, as you Americans say, always 'beat them to it.'

Comes General Obregon.

"Gen. Elias-Calles succeeded general Obregon as governor of Sonora in 1917, but, largely because the Yaqui did not know him personally, he was unable to arrange a peace, though the forays became much less destructive and further apart. Meanwhile General Obregon, who was even then preparing for his own revolutionary movement, incorporated a regiment of Yaqui soldiers into his army, and invited me to represent the Yaqui on his staff. After three conferences with my father, Chief Mori, in which Obregon came alone and unattended to my father's headquarters on the Upper Yaqui river, my father consented and 600 Yaqui youths, with me, joined the state army of Sonora at Hermosillo. We soon learned that General Obregon was, even then, a vital influence in Mexican affairs, and to us it seemed that he was destined to take an even more important place. Naturally we communicated this to the leaders of our people, with the result that a series of conferences were held, culminating in the recent visit of my father to Hermosillo, where the treaty of peace was signed."

FROM THE BENEDICTINE SISTERS, and voices are infectious, and prompt measures should be taken to stop the coughing and spreading of germs. The following letter from the Benedictine Sisters, Holy Name Convent, San Antonio, Fla., is of value to every mother. "We have just received shipment of Foley's Honey and Tar. It is a household remedy. We have used it since we knew of it, for our children especially, and always found it beneficial."
